Obituary.

George D. Lyon, son of G. C. and Mrs. Nannie Lyon, died at his home near Hustonville, Ky., Nov. 29th, 1891, aged 14 years. While it is appointed unto man once to die, all ages are alike exposed to the appalling end. The aged must die, but how often, alas, do the young die! Death is always a sad event, but in the case of the young it is peculiarly solemn. George D. Lyon was in perfect health up to the time of his sudden attack by pneumonia, which manifested such violence from the beginning as to defy all remedial agencies that medical science could apply.

George D. Lyon had not only been blessed with a vigorous body, but with a brilliant intellect, quick perception and retentive memory and with rare exactness, could reproduce the images that external objects had impressed upon his mind. Moreover his manners and habits were such as would have adorned those of riper years. Manly in his bearing, courteous and polite in his relations to others, he won the admiration of many and the love of all his associates. Very naturally he was much beloved by his parents. His father looked forward hopefully to his promising manhood and fondly anticipated the pleasure awaiting him in realizing all of his hopes in the full maturity of an honorable and beloved son.

But "Death loves a shining mark" and from whose drawn bow the fatal arrow flew and found its victim in his manly form. In a few short days the end was reached. No human hand could stay the approach of Death or divert its fatal shaft from its chosen victim. Dear George, thou hast gone to the grave. When life's end shall have been reached we shall hope to meet thee in the rest of the "sweet bye and bye," where tears are never shed and good-byes are spoken no more forever.

ARTHUR C.

The county seat war at Springfield, Kas., has grown to such proportions that the governor has been asked to declare martial law. Sheriff Dunn and several others have been murdered. A number of arrests have been made, all the prisoners being members of the Farmers' Alliance. It is feared that an attempt will be made to rescue them. Alliance and People's party men say that Sheriff-elect Gayman will not live to qualify.

The ox in the Mammoth Store at Louisville weighed 2,051 pounds alive and dressed 1,408 pounds. It was divided in five parts and sent to the Orphan Asylum.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Ice, about three inches thick, was put up by several parties in town last week.

—The household effects of Mrs. Polly Singleton, deceased, were sold at auction Saturday. The proceeds of the sale amounted to $205.

—Communion services will be held at the Presbyterian church on the 5th Sunday in this month, conducted by Rev. Worrall, of Danville.

—In speaking of the future of the Central Record, Mr. James E. Marrs says in last week's issue of that paper: "My young friend, Mr. E. E. Hughes, will have the valuable assistance of Gen. W. J. Landrum in local, literary and general news departments of the paper, while I shall retain control of the political department and a general supervision over the entire work. Mr. John L. Anderson assumes the place of business manager and is fully empowered to look after and manage this very necessary part of the establishment."

—A. H. Rice has returned from a business trip to Lexington. Mrs. Thomas Wheritt is ill with the grip. Kirk Kirby has gone to Farmdale to enter the Military Institute. Sheriff Cort Robinson has about recovered from an attack of pneumonia. Miss Bessie Rush is visiting in Atlanta. Mr. E. W. Morrow was called to Selma, Saturday, by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his father. Policeman El Finney resigned his position and will leave this week for Indiana. James M. Layton and family will move this week to Cincinnati to make their future home. Mr. Malcolm Tillet and family have moved to the Price property on Stanford street, recently purchased by Mrs. Jas. Mason. Mrs. Mason has returned to her hotel property.

—Capt. Schley, commander of the Baltimore, exhibits that 38 of his men were ashore when the revolution in Chili was in progress, and the question is pertinent, what were they doing there at that time? Were they there on business, or simply as spectators, and were they in charge of a commissioned officer? It may be said that they had a right to be there, business or no business. Granting this to be true, if they had no business, was it the part of prudence to allow them to be there at a time like that? The probabilities are that some of them imbibed more liquor than was necessary, and in the exuberance of their feelings proceeded to give expression of their views, and thus provoked a difficulty, or acted in so boisterous a manner as to call for an arrest, which was resisted and a row was the result. Of course the honor of our country should be protected, but if we are to go to war, it would be well to adopt the motto of Uncle Davy Crockett, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead."

—A question worthy of the consideration of the public is, which is the greatest nuisance, the English sparrow or the inveterate whistler? "Annie Rooney" has been whistled to death and it is said that she passed to her long rest in San Francisco a short time since while the strains of that mournful melody were being gently wafted to her ears, at the close of a long and eventful career. "Comrades," that once charming waltz song, that is supposed to have been sung and danced by two old crippled veterans while holding a camp fire of their own, has been worn threadbare, but still the whistler exists as a permanent fixture.

"Morning, noon and night, wherever he may be, Fondly he whistles, regardless of thee." No where you may your ears are greeted by Annie Rooney and Comrades, Comrades and Annie Rooney, fired at you from every nook and corner, until you wish that "Rooney" had never been born and that "Comrades" had never entered the mind of its composer.

—J. R. Dodge has an able article in the Century on "The Discontent of the Farmer." Many reasons are given for the "ground-swell" that is moving the rural population, the chief cause being the depression of prices which reached its lowest level last year. The price of wheat in Liverpool was lower than it has been in the last century, while meats and other products have been somewhat similarly affected. As the farmer is the principal agent in clothing and feeding the world, it is somewhat natural that he should grow restless under what he considers an indifference as to his interests and seek to better his condition by all available means within his power. The trouble, in some respects, is beyond the control of legislation, as the conditions of supply and demand must to a great extent control all matters of a business character. But if this were otherwise, the power to remedy the matter would seem to be in the farmers themselves, who could, by the immense majority of their numbers, select such agents as they thought proper to represent and protect their interests. With hundreds of thousands of active, intelligent and patriotic men in their ranks, who would adorn any position in public life, the farmers, as a body, have generally contented themselves by simply selecting from among those who have solited their suffrages according to their preconceived views and with but little reference to the interests of the largest and most important element of society. But politics is politics, you know, and the farmer must stand by his party, regardless of the price of wheat, corn, cotton or tobacco.

From the Land of Goshen.

—Mr. W. H. Taylor's distillery is rapidly nearing completion and will soon be ready for business.

—The Christian church at this place has engaged their former pastor, Bro. J. G. Livingston, to preach for them this year.

—Our school at this place, taught by Miss Tompkins, of Harrodsburg, was opened last week with flattering prospects of a successful term.

—Mr. Wm. Holtzclaw and Miss Nannie Beaman were married in Lexington on New Year's day. We extend our congratulations to the young people.

—Miss Louisa Daddar has returned home from a very pleasant visit to friends in Jessamine county. Mr. Frank Spratt and family have moved to Point Leavelle.

—Our Sunday school meets at 2:30 o'clock every Sunday evening and is in a very flourishing condition, numbering 80 pupils, the credit of which is due to our superintendent, E. B. Beazley.

—Our popular agent at Gilbert's Creek Mr. Lillburn Couch, is down with the grip. Miss Pattie Couch has returned home from a visit to relatives near Stanford. Misses Kattie and Lena Palmer, two handsome young ladies of Point Leavelle, are visiting Mrs. Thomas Taylor.

The Old Maids' Kick.

To the Editor of the Interior Journal.

STANFORD, Jan. 10.—We have always looked upon the I. J. as our friend and have received so many kind and complimentary notices to its columns that we are both now to find fault with it, but in jury done on sex in a recent issue, offering as a selection of young men to choose husbands from, coupling with the other the inference that some of us might propose to some of these back numbers, is too much for endurance; and here we draw the line. Think of it! Oh! my! That any of us should so far forget or disregard propriety, solely upon the excuse that it is leap year, is unpardonable. But worse still, you go beyond that to deal us a greater injury to offer us your cheapest lot of bachelors to select from. Who of our sex has ever injured or offended you, that you doom to such misery as would be that of the wife of one of these? You do these men an injustice, too, for your readers would infer that they had made no effort to procure wives, when there is scarcely a marriageable woman of us all but known by heart and can repeat the declaration of each one of them when he proposes, and so well imitate his manner and agitation as he delivers it, that our whole sex can recognize the original. Perhaps you stoop to them, however, in the remark that "any of them could be had for the asking." Well, we should say so! Lord deliver us! Now, if the reserve corps you mention is of the same material, please excuse us. We are not forward; we are not anxious; we are quiet—very quiet—as you know well, for your own animated ogling some of us have seen has never been exposed, and you know you do; and you stroke your beard, straighten your lapels and pull down your vest and beam very brightly and smile very complacently when you catch a country from us. So, there, now, we will tell it, if you do not apologize, sir! You may put your lot of superannuated bachelors up at auction for some charitable benefit, or at some church fair, and sell them if they are in demand. Only one of them, we learn, has had an offer since their forlorn condition prompted them to advertise with you, and that was by letter from a distant State. That was a nice scheme of theirs to advertise with you, but we are not to be caught with this.

LEAP YEAR.

Tribute of Respect.

WHEREAS, In the providence of God, Joseph Moran, a member of Hustonville Lodge No. 181, F. and A. M., has been removed from this lodge to a life beyond the grave, thereby bringing sorrow to his friends and relatives, therefore be it Resolved, 1st. That in his death this lodge has lost an honorable and upright Mason, the community a good citizen and his church a faithful member.

2d. As Masons we bestow upon his memory the affection of fraternal hearts and in sorrow for our loss unite in extending our last tribute of regard.

3d. In memory of the deceased the members of this lodge will wear the usual badge of mourning for 30 days.

4th. That we will attend in a body the funeral of our deceased brother and pay the last sad rites of our beloved fraternity.

5th. That a copy of these resolutions shall be spread upon the minutes, a copy sent to the family of Bro. Moran and a copy furnished the Interior Journal for publication.

SAMUEL REID, J. M. Cook, W. L. Williams, Committee.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Mrs. James M. Cooke is very ill.

—Uncle George Weatherford is quite ill of grip and complications.

—Mr. Cole Brown was arrested for selling liquor when he should not.

—Miss Lizzie Bogle attended a reception at Dr. John Bogle's, Danville, Saturday evening.

—Miss Minnie Dinwiddie will go to Stanford Monday to attend the Tate-Paine wedding. Miss Mattie Dinwiddie is with Mrs. Jno. O. McAlister, at Eunis, Tex. Miss Fannie Yowell returned to Bradfordsville Wednesday.

—Tone Hinn got back from Adair Friday with three fancy combined geldings, which he declared a handsome addition to his already extra string. D. C. sold to J. W. Allen 8800-pound steers at $20 per head, 11 yearling sheep at $3.25 per head and 10 80-pound shoats for $25.

—A late letter from George Miller Givens reports Atlanta stables crowded with 2,000 cotton mules and horses and no buyers. Many mules sold on credit a year ago have been returned to the sellers, with declarations of inability to pay. The outlook is gloomy.

—A brute in Stringtown suburbs deserted his wife and children rather than provide food during the snowy spell. He was tracked to where he had left the ax, but no evidences that pensions are due some kindly beasts for having devoured the wretch. Judge Lynch should convene his court.

—A sleighing party had an up-set and break-down on the outskirts Wednesday night, which necessitated a walk in with led horses. After elaborate repairs, the same party confidently started to Stanford Thursday afternoon and made it successfully to the half-way mark, when like the old shay, the sled went absolutely to pieces, and the party got home a few minutes before midnight, horseback, using rugs instead of saddles.

—A "Wait and See," given at Mr. John Dinwiddie's Friday night, by our elder young ladies, to the local and neighboring gallants, who were left to find their way, is reported to have equaled if not surpassed the "Leap Year" given by the intermediates, of which we wrote. A skilled caterer from Danville prepared and served a magnificent ten-course menu, which the next essay will have to "wait" some while before it can "see" and go that spread "one better."

—Nearly every ice-house in town was filled with cakes varying in thickness from 1 1/2 to 4 inches. The skaters were out in full force Friday and one of the most expert ladies had the misfortune to break through where the water was waist deep, carrying with her a little miss, whom she was giving her first lesson. A rapid "pull for the shore" and prompt substitution of dry clothing brought both through without unpleasant sequel.

—Joseph Moran, of the Moreland neighborhood, died Saturday morning of pneumonia, after little more than a confinement of a week. He was buried at Hustonville cemetery Sunday at 11 A. M., with Masonic honors. Mr. Moran was one of our best citizens, an industrious, exemplary and prosperous farmer. Mrs. Moran was informed at the cemetery of her mother's death, which occurred Saturday night, and that her father's death is momentarily expected.

—Althea, the lovely little 8 or 9-year-old son of John Steele Carpenter, was delayed on one of his errands last week till overtaken by darkness, two miles from home, when the 25-year-old dilly he bestrode was suddenly inspired to inaugurate the new year with a record which will be unbroken at 93 and Gilpin's famous pace was a mere jog in comparison with Althea's, when Ed Staggs luckily seized a rein and "called a halt," saving rider and horse from injury. Althea is satisfied that there is no fool like an old fool. "Why, Mr. Staggs, the old fool's 25 years old and who'd a thought of her running off?" were the little fellow's first utterances after his rescue.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—Mr. Robert Early, an old and respected citizen, who lived about four miles west of town, died Sunday morning with the prevailing disease. He has been known by the writer ever since he can remember. He has always been a quiet, honorable and peaceable citizen, attending strictly to his own business and interfering with nobody else's. There were few like him. On Friday Uncle Hiram Moore, also an aged citizen, died. He was buried at the McNeil burying ground Sunday. Mr. Moore was well known by all and his death was a great surprise. He was sick only a few days.

THE Somerset Reporter says the municipal election held there last week was one of the most disgraceful in the history of the State. The family have moved out, and Mrs. Craig says that she would not occupy it again if it were given her. Mr. Craig is not at home.—Caldwell Mercury.

AS will be seen by the official proceedings, the democratic county committee has fixed March 5th for a primary election to nominate candidates for sheriff and circuit clerk. The vote will be viva voce and all democrats and minors with democratic proclivities, who will attain the legal age by the November election, will be entitled to vote. The present incumbent, Mr. J. N. Menefee, and Mr. R. E. Gentry are the announced candidates for sheriff. Mr. J. P. Bailey has no opposition for clerk that we have heard of.

ROWLAND.—We have it from a pretty well authenticated source that the L. & N. has decided to permanently locate the division point at Rowland, another at Corbin and another at Norton. If this is true, money could not be better invested than in a manufactory of some sort at Rowland. Our people never fail to respond to invitations to subscribe stock in banks here and elsewhere. Let them put some of it in a manufactory here and no matter of what kind it will be bound to pay handsomely, besides benefit the community. Wont some live it man take hold of it?

J. H. HUTCHINSON asks us to forward his paper to him at Liverpool, Fla., and adds: "We have heavy frosts on nights of 3d and 8th." This is something very rare for the land of flowers.

Mrs. J. F. GORRILL will open her spring school for a term of five months at McCormack's, on Monday, Jan. 18th, 1892. Book keeping and the higher mathematics a specialty. A normal course will be open to those preparing to teach.

THE Knights of Pythias will give a public installation of officers to invited friends of the Lodge in Castle Hall on Thursday night next. A banquet at R. Zimmer's will follow and the Knights intend to make it a first-class entertainment throughout.

PEARS.—Mrs. Clara Doty Taylor sent us a couple of pears yesterday in a perfect state of preservation and good in taste as when pulled. She kept several bushels simply by wrapping each pear in a paper and putting them in a barrel kept in a dry place.

IN the county court yesterday, J. W. Hayden qualified as administrator of James T. Craig. No will of Capt. Gainer Craig was presented and it is thought he left none. In this event his estate will go to the Harris', Helms, Craigs and Lillards. Mrs. Mary A. Gainer's will was probated and W. R. Cress qualified as administrator of Mrs. Clarinda Coffey.

THE weather has been very bad ever since January commenced, and if the first 12 days are indicative of the weather of the 12 months, as some superstitious people say, we are going to have a very bad year. The mercury got down below the 20's Sunday morning, but it got warmer by night and quite a snow storm prevailed. Yesterday was wet and drizzly, with the promise of clear and colder to day.

THE prisoners dug out of the Barbourville jail Friday night, Boyd Berry, Thomas Richard and William Dale, charged with petty larceny, Sherwood Bowman, a murderer, and Joe Henderson, charged with killing three men, and who was recently captured in Kansas. Our mountain friends ought to build better jails and send their prisoners to Stanford for safe keeping. We will guarantee they will not get away from Sam Owens.

THE excitement over the alleged rape of Miss Woods by Mayor Barney Higgins, at Somerset, has subsided to a great extent since the examination of the girl by Dr. Scott, who says she was not harmed and that there was no sign of struggle save a very small scratch on her wrist that might have been made in some other way. The mayor, who is still in jail at Danville, says he is physically incapable of the crime charged against him, as an examination will show, so putting Dr. Scott's word and Higgins' together it seems that the whole matter resulted from the freak of a drunken fool. Since the above was written a warrant charging Higgins with robbing Miss Woods of her money and watch has been issued.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—During the past 20 years there have been 328,716 divorces granted in the United States.

—Samuel Smith, twice a widower, and Mrs. Mollie Lankendelt, a widow, were married at Mr. E. D. Smiley's on Saturday.

—Though the weather has been unusually favorable, marriages have fallen off all over the land during the last six weeks. Even Cupid is suffering with the grip.—Louisville Times.

—Mr. James Walker Givens obtained divorce yesterday to marry Miss Florence Estes to-day. Both of them are the INTERIOR JOURNAL's best friends. An extended notice will be given of the event Friday.

—Miss Lillie Lowe, of Zanesville, O., who was engaged to be married, suffered the misfortune to have both of her arms cut off. The horrible accident did not seem to give her as much pain as she thought that her lover would go back on her. He didn't, however, but as soon as she was able to make her his wife and at the same time the happiest woman in Ohio.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—CRAIG.—After a short illness of pneumonia, Capt. R. G. Craig breathed his last at 8 P. M. Friday, at the residence of his sister, Mrs. E. C. Helm, with whom he lived for a number of years. Capt. Craig was in his 77th year and all of his long life was spent in this community, where he was highly respected. He was honest, honorable and upright. A member of the Presbyterian church for many years, he was always at his post and contributed liberally of his means to the support of church work. He was never married, but much of his money went to assist in supporting the families of his brothers and sisters, by all of whom he was regarded with great veneration and love. Of the original family of nine children only Mrs. E. C. Helm and Mrs. H. T. Harris survive. Before the war, Capt. Craig was in the sheriff's office for some years, the only office he ever held. Starting life with a fair inheritance, he succeeded by good management and economy to make quite a fortune, most of which is in bank stock. The remains were interred in Buffalo Cemetery, Sunday morning, after a short service at the grave by Rev. Ben Helm.

—J. R. Richardson, for many years the leading druggist of Somerset, died Friday of pneumonia. He was an excellent citizen and his loss will be felt for many years.

—Fred A. Hunt, of the Covington Commonwealth's editorial staff, died a few days ago of kidney trouble. He was a very bright young man and had held several responsible positions on his excellent paper, with much credit.

—The wife of Major E. W. Freeman, editor of the Barbourville News, died Saturday at her father's home at Parkersville of consumption, after a long illness. Mr. Freeman has the sympathy of his brethren of the press in his sore bereavement.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The opening to-day of a complete Turkish bath establishment in this city marks an advance in cleanliness and let us hope, in godliness. Steaming and boiling here may save roasting hereafter. Louisville Times.

—Rev. Terry, a religious crank, is preaching at Princeton that Christ has already come the second time, that He is now on earth, but will not reveal Himself till 1911, when the general wind-up will come. Strange to say, many people believe him, including a Baptist preacher and a number of his flock.

—The Methodists of this place greatly appreciate the interest shown by the McKendree church in the new person age. About $100 has been subscribed by individual members and $30 to sent in as the proceeds of the supper given Christmas night. They will raise their subscription to $200 or over.

—Tongles, who took him for a detective, seized Rev. J. C. Hicks, of Barbourville, Ky., while he was visiting at Ft. Payne, Ala., and beat him severely. He offered to open his satchel and prove by his Bible that he was the wrong man, but they took this for an effort to get a pistol and knocked him senseless, in which condition he was found sometime afterwards.

—The union revival at the Methodist church is growing in enthusiasm and results. Several have professed religion and others are enquiring what they must do to be saved. Rev. J. O. A. Vaught preached during the quarterly meeting services, but at the other meetings twice a day, the pastors of the town alternate in appealing to sinners to flee from the wrath to come. Rev. W. E. Arnold said on Sunday night that he would rejoice and be glad over the results of the meeting, even if his church gained no members and all the others should. He was enlisted in the light for lost souls and not merely for his own church's advancement. This is the proper spirit and all the churches should join in it freely and fully. Prof. Fogg and the choir furnish excellent music and the song services are unusually enjoyable.

A Model's Fortune.
In the winter of 1870-'71 a great costume festival was held in Munich. Among the many beautiful women present was a Greek girl, dressed in classic costume of extreme simplicity, her only jewels being a single string of pearls about the neck. A Boston artist, then a student at the Royal Art Academy, who was present, says the Boston Transcript, was impressed with the classic charm of this virgin beauty, made sketches and notes, and at once set to work to paint the picture, but in vain; the time had not come in which to realize the conception, and the canvas was laid aside.
Two years ago, as the artist was returning from a summer trip to Europe, he was introduced to a Hungarian nobleman, who had been appointed consul, and with his family was sailing for New York. When introduced to the consul's family, a glance at the daughter, a beautiful girl of 16, brought to mind the Greek girl seen at the costume festival in Munich years ago; another look at the mother, and indeed it was the same woman.
An intimate acquaintance brought to light the fact that the Hungarian, then a student at the University of Munich, lost his heart that memorable night at the festival and soon after married the girl. A few months after the arrival in New York the daughter gave sittings to complete the picture, "Leukopis," which had been inspired by the mother years previous. The artist was J. M. Stone, of this city, and the picture was greatly admired at the last Art Club exhibition.

Humor in Wills.
One might suppose, says the Chicago Herald, that will making was anything but a merry occupation, yet the drollery of the wills that some eccentric old fellows have left behind them could hardly be surpassed. Dean Swift could not have concocted a more bitter joke than that of the testator, who after reciting the obligations he was under to a particular friend bequeathed to him at the bottom of the first page of his will, 10,000 dollars, of course, thought the delighted legatee, but on turning the leaf the bequest was discovered to be 10,000 thanks. What a wet blanket for "great expectations."
Just as odd was the will of the death-stricken humorist who left to certain of his dear relatives "as many acres of land as shall be found equal to the area inclosed by the tract of the center of the oscillation of the earth in a revolution around the sun, supposing the mean distance of the sun to be 21,400 semi-diameters of the earth from it." This was a century ago, and as the problem could not be satisfactorily worked out the legacies were kept at a mean distance from the property all their lives.
A very neat repudiation was conveyed in the will of an uncle who bequeathed 11 silver spoons to his nephew with the remark: "If I have not left him the dozen he knows the reason," the young scapegrace having stolen the twelfth spoon sometime before.

Dutch Windmills.
You scarcely can stand anywhere in Holland without seeing from one to 20 windmills. Many of them are built in the form of a two story tower, the second story being smaller than the first, with a balcony at its base from which it tapers upward until the cap like top is reached. High up, near the roof, the great axis rests from the wall; and to this are fastened two prodigious arms, formed somewhat like ladders, bearing great sheets of canvas, whose business is to catch the mischief maker and set him at work. These mills stand like huge giants guarding the country. Their bodies are generally of dark red; and their heads, or roofs, are made to turn this way and that, according to the direction of the wind. Their round eyerow is always staring. Altogether, they seem to be keeping a vigilant watch in every direction. Sometimes they stand clustered together; sometimes alone, like silent sentinels; sometimes in long rows like ranks of soldiers. You see them rising from the midst of factory buildings, by the cottages, on the polders (the polders are lakes pumped dry and turned into farms); on the wharves; by the rivers; along the canals; on the dykes; in the cities—everywhere! Holland wouldn't be Holland without its windmills, any more than it could be Holland without its dykes and its Dutchmen.—[Mary Mapes Dodge, in St. Nicholas.]

Caterpillar Salad.
A veteran who had been through half a dozen campaigns, and was very particular about what he ate, was invited out to a grand dinner party. He sat almost directly opposite the hostess, and was painfully conscious that every move he made could be observed by her. Suddenly, at the height of the festivities, the veteran came across a caterpillar in his salad. A furtive glance at the hostess disclosed the fact that she, too, had discovered the embarrassing circumstance. It was a critical moment, but the old soldier was equal to the occasion. Without changing a muscle, he gathered up the caterpillar with a forkful of salad and swallowed both. The look of gratitude which he received from his hostess a few minutes later warmed his heart. In due time the story leaked out, and when someone asked the old campaigner how he liked caterpillar salad the reply came like a red hot shot: "Do you take me for a man who would spoil a dinner party for a little thing like a caterpillar?"—[Chicago Herald.]

Little Things.
A good-by kiss is a little thing.
With your hand on the door to go,
But it takes the venom out of the sting
Of a thoughtless word or a cruel fling
That you made an hour ago.
A kiss of greeting is sweet and rare,
Alone the toll of the day,
But it smooths the furrow out of the care
And lines on the forehead you once called fair,
In the years that have flown away.
"It's a little thing to say 'You are kind.'"
"I love you, my dear," each night,
But it sends a thrill through the heart, I find,
For love is tender, as love is blind,
As we climb life's rugged height.
We starve each other for love's caress,
We take, but we do not give;
It seems so easy some soul to bless,
But we do love grudgingly, less and less.
Till 'tis bitter and hard to live.
—Union Signal.

Beginning with the New Year, it is customary to form new resolutions and as far as possible profit by experience of the past. The general credit system having been universally condemned by both debtor and creditor as a curse to our country, one of our young grocery merchants has concluded that it will be wise and profitable to both himself and his customers to steer clear of this reef that has made shipwreck of so many in the past and at the same time offer such inducements to his customers that they can not afford to buy their groceries elsewhere. For example he will sell you

FOR CASH ONLY.
Having purchased the interest of my former partner, Mr. W. R. M. Pherson, I ask a liberal share of the patronage of the people of Rowland and vicinity. I will continue the cash business which the firm of Hutton & M. Pherson started out to do, and think I can easily prove why it will be profitable to both of customers and myself. For instance look at these prices, 10 pounds granulated sugar for $1, Arbuckle's coffee 50 cents per pound and all other goods in proportion. Also have on hand all sizes lumber and shingles for sale.
